

Shelley Hartnett Joins Stresscon Corporation as Director of Business Development

Denver, Colo. (January 13, 2016) - Shelley Hartnett has joined the EnCon team as Director of Business Development for Stresscon Corporation. Shelley brings over 20 years of architectural background and extensive construction related business development experience in the Colorado market. In her role as Director of Business Development, Shelley will create awareness of the many benefits of utilizing precast concrete in all types and sizes of commercial, healthcare, educational, municipal, and residential construction projects across the region. Her responsibilities include developing and managing new business opportunities, business process initiative, sales, and new market development. Additionally, while primarily focused on Business Development for Stresscon, she will assist with Business Development initiatives for all EnCon companies along the Front Range. Shelley will be based out of the Denver office.

As past President of SMPS, Shelley has been involved for many years in the business development and construction industries. She has served on member committees for the Colorado Chapter of Society of Marketing Professional Services (SMPS) and Associated General Contractors of Colorado (AGC), Associated General Contractors of Colorado (AGC/C), Urban Land Institute (ULI), and Colorado Real Estate Women (CREW).
